Your guide to Saxony-Anhalt

Living and working in the centre of Germany and Europe

Come and live in Saxony-Anhalt!

Would you like to live and work in Saxony-Anhalt as well? Our federal state, which has been in existence for only a short period of time, forms the central part of Germany and Europe and is situated between the metropolises of Hanover, Leipzig and Berlin.

We welcome new blood from around the world. This brochure provides you with information on taking the first steps into your new life if you decide to make your home here.

Five good reasons for living in Saxony-Anhalt

There are, of course, more than five reasons why Saxony-Anhalt is an attractive place to live in but we think the key reasons are as follows:

1. You can easily build a career for yourself here!

There are a great number of opportunities for building a career for yourself in Saxony-Anhalt because of the job and training vacancies on offer. Prospects will be even brighter in the future. This also applies to managerial positions in the many small and medium-sized companies in Saxony-Anhalt. These companies need new skilled employees and managers and moreover some of them also need people to set up new companies. There are no limits to thinking outside the box in this area. Medium-sized companies are flourishing and innovative in Saxony-Anhalt. Policy makers have recognised the benefits this brings: new ideas are welcomed and supported here.

2. We love children

Saxony-Anhalt welcomes children. That is why we have gone to such great lengths to help young families. You can have a family here and still work or study hard. One of the ways we make this possible is by offering all children a place in one of over 1,700 day nurseries in the state. Most parents take up this offer, making Saxony-Anhalt a frontrunner in the provision of nursery places in Germany. The ratio of teachers to school children of 1:12 is also lower than in most of the other federal states.

3. Excellent opportunities for research and study

Saxony-Anhalt supports innovations. Science is flourishing and study conditions for the 55,000 students currently studying here are excellent. There are two universities, an art college and four universities of applied sciences which will prepare you fully for your future career. In addition, scientists at the universities and the 17 additional research institutions find the conditions for research ideal.

You can find out more about studying on:

4. Leisure activities, recreation and entertainment in Saxony-Anhalt

Whether hiking and enjoying the natural beauty of the Harz mountains, sailing and surfing on the Goitzsche lake, cycling on the most popular cycle path in Germany along the river Elbe or enjoying a glass of wine in the Saale-Unstrut district – Saxony-Anhalt caters for every taste. And anybody looking for a cosmopolitan lifestyle, city life and entertainment will find when they visit the two university towns, Magdeburg and Halle/Saale that they have come to the right place. There are also excellent restaurants, cosy bars and trendy clubs you can visit in these cities.

Many places in Saxony-Anhalt have played an important part in German and European history. The Reformation, for example, began with Martin Luther in Saxony-Anhalt. In addition, Saxony-Anhalt boasts very many UNESCO world heritage sites, the Bauhaus or the studio and workshop of the painter, Lucas Cranach.

5. Housing is inexpensive here!

In Saxony-Anhalt your own house need not remain a pipedream because building costs are low here, with an average square metre of building land costing around a quarter of the average price in Germany. Rents too are comparatively low, even in the cities.

Working and training in Saxony-Anhalt – what you need to know

If you are interested in working or training in Saxony-Anhalt, the following information may be of special interest to you.

1. Background to the labour market

Excellent opportunities for skilled employees

In Saxony-Anhalt you have excellent prospects of finding a job or a training vacancy. The unemployment rate has fallen by about 50 per cent in the last 15 years and now lies at 10 per cent. A quarter of the jobs offered and a third of the training vacancies had not been filled recently. As not every resident of Saxony-Anhalt who retires can be replaced by a younger person, the number of attractive jobs on offer will continue to increase. There are excellent prospects of employment today, especially in small companies. There are a large number of occupations which are in great demand in Saxony-Anhalt. Excellent opportunities are therefore open, especially to graduates. This is your opportunity!

What you can earn

If you have a full-time job in Germany, you will work about 40 hours per week for which the average wage in Saxony-Anhalt is over 2,200 euros per month. That is the gross wage from which taxes and contributions to social security have to be deducted. A legal minimum wage of 8.50 euros per hour applies throughout Germany.

Find out more on:

www.lsaur.de/liMS
(German/English/French)

You are protected by the law

Employees are protected by the law. For example, there is a restriction on the number of hours you can work, everybody has the right to holidays and you are protected from dismissal. If you are ill, you will still receive a wage for a period of time.

2. Where you can find work

You can find details of job vacancies and training places in several languages on Saxony-Anhalt's Professional Portal PFIFF and the Federal Employment Agency's Job exchange:

www.pfiff-sachsen-anhalt.de (German/English)

www.jobboerse.arbeitsagentur.de (German/English/Spanish/French/Italian/Russian/Turkish)

Which qualifications are in demand?

The Federal Employment Agency has identified occupational groups in which there are a great many vacancies. In Saxony-Anhalt these include:

- Skilled employees in power engineering
- Specialists in electrical engineering
- Skilled employees in the fields of plumbing, and heating, plumbing and air-conditioning technology
- Software development and programming experts
- Specialists in the field of health, care of the elderly and nursing as well as
- Dentists/doctors.

(German)

What type of training is it worthwhile taking?

The Federal Employment Agency has also identified sectors offering good career opportunities in the future. According to its findings, it is well worth undertaking training in sectors including:

- Health care e.g. nursing and care of the elderly
- The plumbing, heating and air-conditioning technology sector
- The energy, metal and electrical sector
- The logistics sector
- The food and luxury food industry
- The plastics industry

3. How is training carried out

Training in Germany is usually carried out on a dual training basis where you learn the theory in a vocational training college and apply this knowledge in hands on training in the company.

You must first apply to your prospective company for a dual programme, after which you are given a training place at the company and receive a salary as an allowance. Training usually starts in August or September.

You can also learn many occupations by participating in an educational training programme.

You can find out more about dual training, the requirements to be met for this, the possibilities of support or the application procedures on:

www.make-it-in-germany.com/de/fuer-fachkraefte/ausbildung-lernen
(German/English/Spanish)

4. Additional information on the subject of work

Do you want to get your career off to a flying start in Saxony-Anhalt?

You can find further key questions and answers on

*www.make-it-in-germany.com/de/fuer-fachkraefte/arbeiten
(German/English/Spanish)*

This portal will also provide you for example with information about the conditions that must be met to work in Germany or how to find the right job and how to apply for it. The portal also provides answers to questions on the recognition of vocational or professional qualifications or the terms of employment contracts and explains for example which taxes and social security taxes have to be paid, how foreign skilled employees can improve their German or how their family can live in Germany as well.
